October 7th - PICTURE DAY

Young children learn best by doing – and integrating academic concepts with physical skills is really what Fit by Five was founded on.

About 1/3 of this “PLUS” program is athletic development, and specifically about coordination skills:

1. eye-foot coordination (gross motor)
2. eye-hand coordination (fine motor)

Classroom “A” houses a lot of specific equipment, that we will be using to further these skills. As your children progress, we will be challenging them to advance further on each piece of equipment. Listen closely, at the end of class, to the lead teacher’s “class wrap-up” for the details.

Pre-K Plus – Continued)

The philosophy is that further developing physical skills directly stimulates more academic and social development. And in turn, builds self-confidence, better peer relations, and an increased desire to participate – at school, and for the rest of their adult lives.

More next month on the last area of the “PLUS” program – emotional development.

ATTENDANCE

Please call the office if you will be late picking up your child. That way we can explain to an anxious child that their mom called, and will be here soon. And, please give us a call if they are going to be absent.
